25X1 5. [] Met with Mr. Frank Slatinshek, Assistant Chief Counsel, House Armed Services Committee, and gave him a blind memorandum dated 23 February on "The Cost of Soviet Occupation Forces." This is in response to a question raised in yesterday's meeting with Mr. Slatinshek and members of the House Armed Services Committee staff.

I also briefed Mr. Slatinshek on the new type Soviet silos and deactivation of older silos; Chic-13; and Mao-class submarines.

25X1 6. [] Called Jay Sourwine, Chief Counsel, Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, to tell him that we had not picked up any statement by Fidel Castro over the weekend referring to "Ceasar Chavez - my comrade," but the possibility exists that such a statement was made and we will be on the lookout for it for him. Mr. Sourwine said he would appreciate this.

25X1 7. [] Called Bob Vagley, Director of the Labor Subcommittee, House Education and Labor Committee, and he told me he expected the conference committee to meet on S. 2515, Equal Employment Opportunities Enforcement Act, on Monday or Tuesday of next week and that the managers on the part of the House most likely would consist of the membership of the Labor Subcommittee. It was agreed that we would meet as soon as possible (he will be out until Friday) concerning the amendments we would like the conferees to use. He said that if he was absent, Tom Hart, of the Subcommittee staff, would be helpful in setting up a meeting with Representative John Erlenborn (R., Ill.), Ranking Minority Member, and other members whose support he thinks may be important.

25X1 8. [] Received a call from Mr. McEwen, in the office of Senator Sam Ervin (D., N. C.), for a China Atlas. I told him that we would be happy to provide an atlas to the Senator and would do so, but that we did not have sufficient supply to satisfy all constituent requests. Mr. McEwen seemed to appreciate this and in connection with subsequent requests, said they would have no problem in merely stating that they had had only one copy of the atlas which they had already given away.

25X1 Subsequently, I spoke to Messrs. Angus Thuermer, [] and [] suggesting that we might make the atlas available to the depository libraries through the Library of Congress, thereby providing greater access to the atlas for the public at large, which would be helpful in responding to the run-of-the-mill requests for a copy of the map. [] said he would be investigating this along with a number of other possibilities and would let us know the outcome.
